DIED FROM HIS INJURY.

Joseph Terrell, the colored man who was struck on the head with an axe at an early hour last Sunday morning by Noah Waddy, also colored, died at the Alexandria Hospital last night. Waddy is still at large. It is claimed that the latter acted in self defense. The trouble occurred in an eating house conducted by William Turner, colored, on upper King street. Turner is a railroad fireman, and Waddy was in charge of the eating house when Terrell entered and became disorderly. It is said that Terrell had a razor or dirk in his hand when Waddy assaulted him with an axe.

Dr. Moore, the coroner, directed City Sergeant Cox to summon a jury to meet at Mr. B. Whaley's undertaking parlors at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The following composed the jury: Messrs. T. A. Fisher, R. S. Barrett, F. M. Martin, A. H. Oehler, O. D. Marshall and F. W. Lynam.

Jack Giggles was the next witness. He was present when the first trouble occurred, when Terrell cursed Turner and made significant references to Turner's wife. Turner picked up a poker when Terrell raised a chain and after cursing Turner said he would put him out and run the place himself. Terrell either had a knife or razor. Witness did not see the assault. Turner had told Waddy to look out for everything in his absence.

The jury met shortly after the hour appointed.

Mr. Thomas A. Fisher was foreman of the jury.

James Thomas was placed upon the stand. He did not witness the assault, but saw Terrell after he had been struck by Waddy.

Martha Turner, wife of William Turner, the proprietor of the place, followed. Witness was in the kitchen. Waddy struck Terrell from behind while the latter was talking to her. Waddy struck Terrell three times and attempted to deal the fourth blow. Terrell had previously been ejected from the house for disorderly conduct. Waddy had been working in the cook shops. Terrell had been drinking. The latter had persisted in going to the kitchen and talking to witnesses. Turner, she said, had told Waddy to look out for a place while the former was out on the road. Terrell had been ejected three times. He repeated Terrell's back was to Waddy when he was struck.

William Turner testified substantially as the preceding witness. He said Terrell came back the third time when witnesses put him out. Terrell dared Turner out on the pavement. Witness later made arrangements to go out on a locomotive.

Turner did not know of the assault until his return Sunday. Witness said he left. Turner said Terrell's actions and language towards his wife was disgusting.

Dr. Smith, who held the autopsy on Terrell's remains and decided the nature of the wound fractured skull and the injury to the brain.

Several policemen later told of searching for Waddy, the removal of Terrell to the Alexandria Hospital, etc.

Dr. Klipstein testified as to the nature of Terrell's wound. He thought the deceased received but one blow on the head. The doctor said he detected no liquor on Terrell.

Turner's wife was recalled to the stand. Upon being cross-examined she admitted that she gave Waddy 50 cents before he left, and that Terrell had been placed in the front room before the policemen reached the house.

The jury returned the following verdict: "That Joseph Terrell died at the Alexandria Hospital January 25, 1910, from a blow on the head by Noah Waddy, indicted with an axe, on the morning of January 23, 1910, and we, the jury, hold said Noah Waddy responsible for his death."

FINED FOR FIGHTING.

Marie Lomax and Annie McCabe, both colored, engaged in a fight on Pitt street near King, last night, during which the latter had most of her clothes torn from her. Mr. Peyton B. Binger arrested the two women, but Annie McCabe suddenly took to her heels and escaped. The Lomax woman was taken to the station house and this morning she was brought before the Police Court and fined $5.

The trouble, it seems, was the outcome of jealousy. This was the only case before the court this morning.

THE RIVER.

The river is comparatively free of ice and navigation has in a measure been resumed.

The schooner John Bradford, from the lower river with oysters, has arrived. This is the first arrival of oysters at this port since the freeze. The bivalves sell at 65 cents a bushel.

The steamer Trenton resumed her trips on the river route this morning. The steamer City of Milford continues to run between Washington, Alexandria and river landings.

DEATH OF MR. AULD.

Mr. David Auld died yesterday evening at his home in Georgetown in the 85th year of his age. He was a son of the late George Auld and a brother of Mr. George Auld, of Fairfax county, in which county he lived for many years. He also resided in this city before the civil war and is well remembered by the old citizens of Alexandria and Fairfax.

He leaves one son. The death of Mr. David Auld leaves his brother, Mr. George Auld, the last survivor of a large family.

OPERA HOUSE.

Mr. Johnson is making great preparations for the production of "Tatlers," which opens tomorrow night. As a special added attraction two well known wild west performers, Mountain Jack and Ebel Rian Horse, late of the Buffalo Bill show, have been engaged, and will appear in parts suited to their abilities as portrayals of characters dealing with western life. A realistic production is promised in every detail. Tonight will conclude the vaudeville bill now being presented.

A rare bargain and one that is being can be obtained at the shoe store of John A. Marshall & Bros., 422 King street. Look at the window display.

MORE DOUBLE TRACKING.

It is believed that the Southern and Chesapeake and Ohio railways will join in the construction of a double track line along the present route of the Chesapeake and Ohio from Charlottesville to Orange via Gordonsville. It is learned that the Southern has completed a new survey from Charlottesville to Orange, which follows generally the direction of its present route. This proposed route will almost certainly be the one the Southern will build over when it is ready to continue the double track south from Orange.

It is learned that the route between Charlottesville and Orange along the Southern's new survey is two and a half miles shorter than the present main line, and would be eight miles shorter than the Chesapeake and Ohio around by Gordonsville.

It is also known that the Southern has made a new survey between Lefthand, the northern end of the new double track around Lynchburg, and Charlottesville, and that this will be one of the next portions of the system to be given a double track. This survey is several miles from the present route at various points, and the grade and curvature along the entire line will be as good as the new tracks between Washington and Orange.

The building of these two gaps, upon completion of the Lynchburg cut-off, will, it is believed, shorten the run of mail trains between Washington and Danville fully an hour.

HOUDON A WONDER.

At 9 o'clock last night the Surprise theatre was packed to the doors, and many were turned away unable to obtain seats. It was the opening night of the great Houdon attraction and proved one of the biggest drawing cards yet offered by the management. Houdon kept his audience interested for fully two hours with his marvelous demonstrations. His telepathy is believed to be the best ever seen here. His spirit manifestations proved to be one of the most sensational features of the programme. His dark seance was particularly weird and startling. The "spirits" cut up all sorts of paper during this scene. The reading and answering of questions written by the audience closed the entertainment. Much merriment was occasioned by some of the answers. The audience was a representative one and a number of prominent business and professional men of Alexandria aided Houdon in some of his demonstrations. Houdon appears again tonight and tomorrow night, and it is safe to predict crowded houses.

SENT TO GRAND JURY.

Clarence L. Fleming, rural route carrier No. 2, of Upperville, Va., who was arrested by Deputy Marshal Glover on complaint of Postoffice Inspector Matthews on a warrant issued by U. S. Commissioner R. P. W. Garrett, was brought before the latter yesterday. The government was represented by U. S. District Attorney L. L. Lewis and the prisoner by R. Hatchison, of Manassas. After a long examination the commissioners decided that the law had been clearly violated, and he sent the prisoner on to the grand jury. Fleming gave bond for his appearance before the July term of the U. S. Court.

BABY ON THE ICE?

Several young men of this city who were in a boat on the river yesterday believe they saw a baby (alive or dead) floating down the channel on a cake of ice. They say the infant wore a calico dress. The young men were unable to make an investigation from the fact that the cake on which they believe they saw the child was in the centre of a field of ice which was being washed swiftly down the river by the current, and it was impossible for them to reach it.

ELKS' DANCE.

The Elks' dancing club is making arrangements to give a dance next Monday night at McBarney's hall. The committee in charge will introduce some new features on this occasion. A large crowd is expected to be on hand.

CARLIN WATCHING FENOES.

Congressman O. C. Carlin, of the Eighth Virginia district, came to Richmond last evening. Mr. Carlin wanted to see what the people of his section have been doing in Richmond. He has heard that conferences have been held here which have for their object the landing of some force else in his congressional chair. [Times Dispatch.]

Are you in a position to climb. You know from experience that it is a whole lot easier to run down hill than it is to climb up. In life you'll find it all "up" to you. Are you "up" to the "going up"? In climbing the ladder of life there's many a slip 'tween the rungs at the bottom, and the one at the top. "Whoever you are" we want you to put a brace between your shoulders and "plus" for the "heights." There's someone down here who loves you and wants to see you succeed. She'll do all in her power to place you at the apex. If she's wise, she'll come to the Auth Market for those irresistibly delicious Auth Sausages and Food Products. They contain the quality of food that'll give you the energy to be the coming man of the hour. Sylvan Poudheim, The Auth Stand and the Auth Market.

HOUDON TONIGHT.

The great Houdon, the man of mystery, at the Surprise tonight and tomorrow night—show starting nightly at 9 o'clock, after regular picture show. The great Houdon whose wonderful performance at the New National Theatre, Washington, recently created a sensation, is now appearing at the Surprise Theatre in his famous scientific test a seance, the most marvelous exemplification of occult, psychic, spiritualistic phenomena ever witnessed. Houdon is under the management of K. W. and E. Langer, the big theatrical booking firm in New York. This of itself is a sufficient guarantee of the merits of the attraction. Among the most startling demonstrations offered on Houdon's programme may be mentioned table lifting, spirit rappings, messages from the dead, telepathy occult and psychic phenomena. Houdon's fame is such as to command the attention of everybody and it is a foregone conclusion he will be greeted by a large audience. The price will be only 10 cents and the show will start at 9 o'clock, right after the regular picture show. Those wishing to remain for the Houdon show can purchase tickets before going into the picture show which will be run as usual at 5 cents. The people of Washington paid from 25 cents to $1 to see this same performance at the National Theatre.

Panic on the Stock Market.

New York, Jan. 25.—Demoralized to the point of a panic by the construction placed on yesterday's "hint" from the White House that the Taft hunting party, personally conducted, was about to take the field to secure a few seals of the "bad trusts" Wall street brokers today started a selling movement under which prices crumbled.

So serious was the effect on the street of the announcement that there might be a "Roosevelt move" against the trusts that the big men of finance cried aloud for quarter. They cry, a herd and at noon, when vines were dropping through out the entire list, an official statement was wired from the president's office that no radical assault on the combinations was contemplated. Notice the panic days of 1907 has the market been so thoroughly "sold" as at present.

THE MOUNT VERNON AVENUE

Senator Thornton, of Fairfax, in the State Senate on Saturday requested that the bill re-investing in the state the claim of the Mount Vernon Avenue Association against the federal government be recommitted, though it was up for its third reading. He explained that many years ago the state had transferred to this association a claim against the government for money loaned to it in 1789. The association proposed to construct with the money, when received, a magnificent boulevard from the capital to Mount Vernon. It had spent money, as an association, and its members had done so as individuals. Now the state wishes to take back its gift, and he thought the association ought to have a hearing before the finance committee before final action should be taken. The government has denied the debt, and it remains for the association to appeal to congress on sentimental grounds. They had never abandoned the project, and they feel that they still have a chance to complete their plan.

Senator Folkes, of Richmond, patron of the bill, wanted to be assured that if a hearing were granted, somebody would be present. He explained the state's side of the matter. He told of the long and unsuccessful fight made in Congress to secure payment of this claim. Senator Daniel, he said, put up a splendid fight to get it, but failed. Reading from the report of the last congressional committee which had considered it, he said that the last hearing had been the best chance of all to secure payment, and that it then was a signal failure. The federal government seems to be trying to appropriate Alexandria now, and he thought that the possession of the claim would help Virginia materially in any contention with the government.

Senator Thornton replied that he thought a hearing might be secured. He was of the opinion that the association should be unmolested in its efforts and should not be forced in any way. Questions of law might be involved, and the matter ought to be more fully considered.

Senator Carter, of Hapsham, believed that the association had vested rights to which ought to be investigated before the legislature took final action. Unanimous consent having been obtained, the bill was recommitted.

A GOOD BILL.

Care of drug fiends and drunkards is the object of a bill introduced into the house of delegates by Mr. Myers, of Amherst. It provides that the relatives or friends of any person who is addicted to the cocaine, morphine or any drug habit, or who is an habitual drunkard, may have such person arrested and taken before a justice of the peace. If the charge is found true the justice shall deliver him to said relative or friend on a bond of $100. The person in charge has then absolute control of the affected party. He may place him in a sanatorium for treatment. The bond is good for only ninety days, but may be renewed for another ninety days or until the party is relieved or until the relative or friend declines to do anything more for him.

The front of a five-story brick building at No. 210 Terrace, Buffalo, N. Y., occupied by Whitney, Noyes and Company, collapsed at 11 a. m. today. It is believed that no one was buried under the ruins.

Paris is excited over a report that the dam of Lake Seltone, 50 feet high, has broken and that the waters that it held back are now rushing down the Yonne river, to be emptied into the Seine.
